12. Background Checks

12.1. Background checks by Vendor of all personnel who interact with VR customers: Vendors, that will provide goods or services directly to VR customers, must run a criminal background check on each of its employees who will interact with any VR customer in accordance with the minimum requirements for conducting background checks contained in Chapter 3, Basic Standards of the VR-Standard for Providers Manual. In this context, “interact” means any communication or other contact whether in person, on paper, by voice, by sign language, electronically or any other method. All provider staff must have a background check. The only exception is for staff who never communicate with or are physically present with a VR customer. Background checks must be completed by the Vendor before the employee interacts with any VR customer. An employee who fails the criminal background check must never interact with any VR customer. If a provider chooses not to do a background check on a staff member, then the provider must demonstrate that the staff member has never interacted with any VR customer in any way on any subject.

12.2. No de minimus exception: Vendor employees are covered by this requirement regardless of how short or rare the interaction may be, and regardless of the subject matter or context of the interaction. Vendors who comply with this requirement will never have any employee interact with any VR customer unless and until the employee passes a criminal background check.

12.3. Credentialing, documenting, and renewing: For purposes of complying with this section, an employee’s criminal background check expires after 3 years. The Vendor must run a new check before the 3 years expires or must remove the employee from interacting with VR customers on and after the date the background check expires. An employee whose criminal background check has expired must not interact with VR customers. The Vendor will maintain records of all criminal background checks showing that the checks have been completed and that the employees have not failed the criminal background check. For the purpose of this section, documentation means a completed Background Check Attestation and Release Form for each applicable individual showing the name of the individual checked, dates of background checks, whether the individual passed the background check, and any other information required in the procedures contained in the VR-Standards for Providers Manual, Chapter 3, Basic Standards. Documentation of a current and passing criminal background check is both a "qualification" and a "credential" within the meaning of 40 TAC § 858.3(a)(1) and any successor regulation.

12.4. Employee self-reporting: In addition to the background check, the Vendor will require all of its employees to self-report to the Vendor the employee's conviction, incarceration, criminal fine, probation, community service, or deferred adjudication.

12.5. Record keeping and access to records: For each covered employee the Vendor must maintain documentation of the passing background checks for a minimum of 6 years. Vendors must maintain the Background Check Attestation and Release Form ("log") showing the name of the individual checked, dates of background checks, whether the individual passed the background check, and any other information required in the procedures contained in the VR-Standard for Providers Manual, Chapter 3, Basic Standards. Vendors must maintain a record of the payment for the background check, as applicable. Upon written request, the Vendor must provide access to, or copies of all background check logs, payment records, and other required documentation to any VR counselor, contract management staff, contract monitoring staff, or other TWC staff.

12.6. Subcontractors: All provisions in this section apply equally to any subcontractor, and this term will be included in any subcontract.

12.7. Standards for passing the background check; exceptions:

TWC has adopted a list of criminal offenses which disqualify Vendor employees from interacting with VR customers. The list is posted on the VR Providers' Resources Page. TWC will consider exceptions in some cases to offenses included under subsections (b) and (c) of the list. Vendors are responsible for seeking an exception.

12.8. Guidance or Exceptions: If a Vendor is unclear on the process to conduct a background check, or unclear about how to interpret the results, the Vendor shall ask VRD for technical assistance. TWC may grant exceptions to (i) remove the exclusion of an employee who failed a background check based on offenses contained in subsection (b) of the disqualifying offenses list or (ii) grant blanket exceptions to the requirement to conduct background checks on certain types of entities, procurements, services, or goods. Any exception granted by TWC must be supported by (a) a determination by TWC that the need for the exception outweighs the likely risk, and (b) written, dated documentation that TWC agreed to the exception. TWC retains the right to place time limits or other restrictions on any granted exceptions.
