25 §821.3. Jurisdiction.

- 26 (a) The Commission shall exercise jurisdiction over wage claims in which:
- 27 (1) the work is performed exclusively in Texas;

31 or

1 (3) the work is performed by an individual who is a Texas resident at the time the

9 Texas;

10 (2) the wage claim arises from the employer's act or the employer's contact with 11 Texas is continuing and systematic; and

12 (3) exercising jurisdiction is consistent with:

15 employer avails itself of the benefits and protections of Texas law; and 16 (B) the relative convenience of the parties.

23 §821.5. Employment Status: Employee or Independent Contractor.

24 The Commission adopts the following form, Form C-8, as its official guideline for use in 25 determining employment status.

EMPLOYMENT STATUS – A COMPARATIVE APPROACH

Under the common law test, a worker is an employee if the purchaser of that worker's service has the right to direct or control the worker, both as to the final results and as to the details of when, where, and how the work is done. Control need not actually be exercised; rather, if the service recipient has the right to control, employment may be shown.

Depending upon the type of business and the services performed, not all 20 common law factors may apply. In addition, the weight assigned to a specific factor may vary depending on the facts of the case.

If an employment relationship exists, it does not matter that the employee is called something different, such as agent, contract laborer, subcontractor, or independent contractor.

1. INSTRUCTIONS:

An Employee receives instructions about when, where and how the work is to be performed.

An Independent Contractor does the job his or her own way with few, if any, instructions as to the details or methods of the work.

2. TRAINING:

Employees are often trained by a more experienced employee or are required to attend meetings or take training courses.

An Independent Contractor uses his or her own methods and thus need not receive training from the purchaser of those services.

3. INTEGRATION:

Services of an Employee are usually merged into the firm's overall operation; the firm's success depends on those Employee services.

An Independent Contractor's services are usually separate from the client's business and are not integrated or merged into it.

4. SERVICES RENDERED PERSONALLY:

11. ORAL OR WRITTEN REPORTS:

An Employee may be required to submit regular oral or written reports about the work in progress.

An Independent Contractor is usually not required to submit regular oral or written reports about the work in progress.

12. PAYMENT BY THE HOUR, WEEK OR MONTH:

An Employee is typically paid by the employer in regular amounts at stated intervals, such as by the hour or week.

An Independent Contractor is normally paid by the job, either a negotiated flat rate or upon submission of a bid.

13. PAYMENT OF BUSINESS & TRAVEL EXPENSE:

An Employee's business and travel expenses are either paid directly or reimbursed by the employer.

Independent Contractors normally pay all of their own business and travel expenses without reimbursement.

14. FURNISHING TOOLS & EQUIPMENT:

An Employee's services must be rendered personally; Employees do not hire their own substitutes or delegate work to them.

A true Independent Contractor is able to assign another to do the job in his or her place and need not perform services personally.

5. HIRING, SUPERVISING & PAYING HELPERS:

An Employee may act as a foreman for the employer but, if so, helpers are paid with the employer's funds.

Independent Contractors select, hire, pay and supervise any helpers used and are responsible for the results of the helpers' labor.

6. CONTINUING RELATIONSHIP:

An Employee often continues to work for the same employer month after month or year after year.

An Independent Contractor is usually hired to do one job of limited or indefinite duration and has no expectation of continuing work.

7. SET HOURS OF WORK:

An Employee may work "on call" or during hours and days as set by the employer.

A true Independent Contractor is the master of his or her own time and works the days and hours he or she chooses.

8. FULL TIME REQUIRED:

An Employee ordinarily devotes full-time service to the employer, or the employer may have a priority on the Employee's time.

A true Independent Contractor cannot be required to devote full-time service to one firm exclusively.

9. LOCATION WHERE SERVICES PERFORMED:

Employees are furnished all necessary tools, materials and equipment by their employer.

An Independent Contractor ordinarily provides all of the tools and equipment necessary to complete the job.

15. SIGNIFICANT INVESTMENT:

An Employee generally has little or no investment in the business. Instead, an Employee is economically dependent on the employer.

True Independent Contractors usually have a substantial financial investment in their independent business.

16. REALIZE PROFIT OR LOSS:

An Employee does not ordinarily realize a profit or loss in the business. Rather, Employees are paid for services rendered.

An Independent Contractor can either realize a profit or suffer a loss depending on the management of expenses and revenues.

17. WORKING FOR MORE THAN ONE FIRM AT A TIME:

An Employee ordinarily works for one employer at a time and may be prohibited from joining a competitor.

An Independent Contractor often works for more than one client or firm at the same time and is not subject to a non-competition rule.

18. MAKING SERVICE AVAILABLE TO THE PUBLIC:

An Employee does not make his or her services available to the public except through the employer's company.

An Independent Contractor may advertise, carry business cards, hang out a shingle or hold a separate business license.

19. RIGHT TO DISCHARGE WITHOUT LIABILITY:

Employment is indicated if the employer has the right to mandate where services are performed

Independent Contractors ordinarily work where they choose. The workplace may be away from the client's premises.

10. ORDER OR SEQUENCE SET:

An Employee performs services in the order or sequence set by the employer. This shows control by the employer. A true Independent Contractor is concerned only with the finished product and sets his or her own order or sequence of work.

4 §821.6. Wage Claims Involving Minimum Wage or Overtime.

5 (a) The Commission shall consider any applicable minimum wage and overtime
6 requirement in determining if wages are due and unpaid.

7 (b) In determining an employee's entitlement to federal minimum wage or overtime, the 8 Commission shall look to the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) of 1938 as amended,
9 29 U.S.C. 201 et seq., and the regulations promulgated by the United States
10 Department of Labor thereunder. In determining an employee's entitlement to state
11 minimum wage, the Commission shall look to the Texas Minimum Wage Act,
12 located at Texas Labor Code, Chapter 62.

14 Return to Table of Contents

15 §821.7. Notice of Paydays.

An Employee can be discharged at any time without liability on the employer's part.

If the work meets the contract terms, an Independent Contractor cannot be fired without liability for breach of contract.

20. RIGHT TO QUIT WITHOUT LIABILITY:

An Employee may quit work at any time without liability on the Employee's part. An Independent Contractor is legally responsible for job completion and, on quitting, becomes liable for breach of contract.

1 For purposes of posting notices indicating an employer's paydays, electronic posting is
2 sufficient to meet the requirements of §61.012(c) of the Act as long as the electronic
3 posting otherwise meets the requirements of the Act.

4 The provisions of this §821.7 adopted to be effective September 20, 2010, 35 TexReg 8506

5 Return to Table of Contents

6 SUBCHAPTER B. PAYMENT OF WAGES

7 §821.21. Complete and Unconditional Payment of Wages.

8 (a) An employer has paid an employee's wages for purposes of the Act if the employer
9 has delivered the wages to the employee:

10 (1) in a form authorized by §61.016 of the Act; and

11 (2) by a method authorized by §61.017 of the Act.

12 (b) An employer has not paid an employee's wages for purposes of the Act if the 13 employee has received the wages subject to a third party claim because:

14 (1) the paycheck has been dishonored due to insufficient funds, a stop-payment
15 order or any other reason attributable to the employer;

16 (2) the employer has caused a direct deposit of the wages to be reversed; or

17 (3) the employer has taken other similar action to undo the payment of wages.

18 The provisions of this §821.21 adopted to be effective June 1, 1998, 23 TexReg 5732

19 Return to Table of Contents

20 §821.22. Payment Other Than on Payday.

21 (a) For purposes of §61.013 of the Act, the Commission interprets "another regular 22 business day" to mean any regular business day, which is designated as being such 23 within the customary practice of the employer, following the employer's designated 24 payday.

25 (b) When an employee leaves employment other than by discharge on a payday,
26 payment of wages in full will be due the following scheduled payday. The 27 Commission shall consider "discharge" as dismissal or release from employment
28 initiated by the employer including, but not limited to, layoff.

1 The provisions of this §821.22 adopted to be effective June 1, 1998, 23 TexReg 5732

2 Return to Table of Contents

3 §821.25. Fringe Benefits.

- 4 (a) For purposes of §61.001(7)(B) of the Act, vacation pay and sick leave pay are 5 payable to an employee upon separation from employment only if a written 6 agreement with the employer or a written policy of the employer specifically 7 provides for payment.
- 8 (b) For purposes of §61.001(7)(B) of the Act, severance pay is payment by an employer
9 to an employee beyond the employee's wages on termination of employment, based 10 on the employee's prior service. Severance pay does not include payments for 11 liquidated damages, payments in exchange for a release of claims, or payments made 12 because of a lack of notice of separation.
- 13 (c) For purposes of §61.001(7)(B) of the Act, the sale of an employer's business is a 14 termination of employment with all of the employer's employees. At the time of 15 termination, the employer becomes liable for the payment of vacation pay, holiday
16 pay, sick leave pay, parental leave pay, or severance pay if owed pursuant to a 17 written agreement or written policy between the employer and its employees.
- 18 (d) For purposes of §61.001(7)(B) of the Act, expense reimbursements paid to 19 employees are not wages. Expense reimbursements are payments to the employee 20 for costs expended by the employee directly related to the employer's business.
- 21 (e) Absent the inclusion of definitions of terms in a written agreement with the employer
22 or under a written policy of the employer, a term will be given its ordinary meaning 23 unless a party establishes that it is defined in another way.
- 24 (f) For purposes of §61.001(7)(B) of the Act, accrued leave time of an employee shall 25 carry over to subsequent years only if a written agreement with the employer or a 26 written policy of the employer specifically provides for it.
- 27 (g) For purposes of §61.001(7)(B) of the Act, paid time off (PTO) or paid days off
28 (PDO) are wages unless the employer's written policy defines PTO or PDO as 29 something other than a combination of vacation pay, holiday pay, sick leave pay,
30 parental leave pay, or severance pay. PTO or PDO is payable to an employee upon 31 separation from employment only if a written agreement with the employer or a 32 written policy of the employer specifically provides for payment.

1 The provisions of this §821.25 adopted to be effective June 1, 1998, 23 TexReg 5732; amended
2 to be effective September 20, 2010, 35 TexReg 8506

3 Return to Table of Contents

4 §821.26. Commissions or Bonuses.

5 (a) For purposes of §61.015 of the Act:

6 (1) Commissions or bonuses are earned when the employee has met all the 7 required conditions set forth in the applicable agreement with the employer.
8 To change an agreement, there must be prior notice as to the nature and 9 effective date of the changes. Changes to written agreements shall be in 10 writing.

11 (2) Commissions or bonuses are due to be paid, in a timely manner, according to 12 the terms specified in an agreement between an employer and an employee.
13 The terms should specify the time intervals or circumstances (or combinations 14 thereof) that would cause commissions or bonuses to become payable, such as,
15 but not limited to, weekly, monthly, quarterly, when sales transactions are 16 recorded, upon buyer's remittance, etc.

17 (b) Unless otherwise agreed, the employer shall pay, after separation, commissions or 18 bonuses earned as of the time of separation.

19 (c) Commissions or bonuses due after separation from employment are payable based on 20 the routine or practice specified in the agreement when the employee was employed,
21 or on any special agreement made between the employee and the employer upon 22 separation.

23 (d) Draws against commissions or bonuses may be recovered from the current or any 24 subsequent pay period until fully reconciled.

25 The provisions of this §821.26 adopted to be effective June 1, 1998, 23 TexReg 5732; amended
26 to be effective September 20, 2010, 35 TexReg 8506

27 Return to Table of Contents

28 §821.27. Loans.

29 (a) An employer must comply with §61.018 of the Act and this chapter to recoup a loan
30 the employer made to an employee, unless the loan is an advance under §821.29.

31 (b) In recouping a loan made to an employee, an employer may count the loan 32 repayment toward any applicable minimum or overtime wages the employer is 33 obligated to pay to the employee.

1 (c) In recouping a loan made to an employee from any of the employee's paychecks,
2 including the employee's final paycheck, the employer may not withhold or divert
3 more than the agreed amount. The agreed amount is the amount:

4 (1) identified as the amount to be withheld from any one paycheck in the written 5 loan agreement between the employer and employee; or

6 (2) otherwise authorized in writing by the employee for repayment of the loan.

7 The provisions of this §821.27 adopted to be effective June 1, 1998, 23 TexReg 5732; amended
8 to be effective September 20, 2010, 35 TexReg 8506

9 Return to Table of Contents

10 §821.28. Deductions.

11 (a) The Commission provides the following guidance in determining whether an 12 employer is entitled to withhold or divert wages under court order, by law or with 13 written authorization under § 61.018 of the Act:

14 (1) A court is presumed to be a court of competent jurisdiction with respect to 15 issuing court orders. The burden shall be on the party opposing a court order 16 to challenge the court's authority by appealing to the issuing court or court of 17 appropriate review as the Commission will presume full faith and credit
18 applies to court orders.

19 (2) State or federal law includes statutes and codes enacted by Congress or the 20 Texas Legislature, rules promulgated by a Texas or federal agency, and 21 regulations promulgated by a Texas or federal agency.

22 (3) A lawful purpose is one that is authorized, sanctioned, or not forbidden, by 23 law.

24 (b) Written authorization for deductions shall be specific as to the lawful purpose for 25 which the employee has accepted the responsibility or liability. Written 26 authorizations shall be:

27 (1) sufficient to give the employee a reasonable expectation of the amount to be 28 withheld from pay; and

29 (2) a clear indication that the deduction is to be withheld from wages.

30 (c) If an employer uses a handbook, policy manual or other similar document instead of 31 a separate writing, the employee's signed acknowledgment of receipt of company 32 policies can be authorization to withhold wages if the acknowledgment meets the 33 requirements of subsection (b) of this section and specifically informs the employee
34 of the deduction. The signed acknowledgment of receipt shall also include language

1 that states that the employee agrees to abide by or be bound to the authorization for 2 deduction.

3 (d) The employer shall ensure that properly withheld wages are applied toward their 4 authorized purpose. Properly withheld wages not applied toward their authorized
5 purpose will be considered unlawful deductions.

6 (e) The employer shall obtain written authorization as required under the Act to deduct
7 credit card service charges from an employee's tips.

8 The provisions of this §821.28 adopted to be effective June 1, 1998, 23 TexReg 5732

9 Return to Table of Contents

10 §821.29. Wage Advances.

11 (a) A wage advance occurs when an employer advances to an employee a monetary sum
12 that represents wages not yet earned, or wages that have been earned but are not yet
13 due for payment.

14 (b) An employer may recoup the wage advance from the employee's next regularly 15 scheduled paycheck directly following the advance if:

16 (1) the employer provides the employee with notice that the amount is an advance
17 that will be recovered from the next paycheck; and 18 (2) the employee agrees to the amount to be recouped.

19 (c) If the wage advance is not recouped in the next regularly scheduled paycheck
20 following the advance, the employer shall comply with §61.018 of the Act.

21 The provisions of this §821.29 adopted to be effective September 20, 2010, 35 TexReg 8506

23 SUBCHAPTER C. WAGE CLAIMS

24 §821.41. Validity of Claim/Filing and Investigative Procedures.

25 (a) A wage claim may be filed in person at an office of the Commission, by mailing the 26 claim to an address designated by the Commission, by faxing the claim to a fax
27 number designated by the Commission, or by electronic submission by way of web-
28 based submission points identified through the Commission's Internet pages relating 29 to filing a wage claim.

30 (b) A wage claim must be filled out completely, legibly, and sufficiently to identify and 31 allow the Commission to attempt contact with the employer.

5 §821.42. Timeliness.

7 in person to the Commission, the date faxed to and received by the Commission at a
8 fax number designated by the Commission, the date received by the Commission 9 through electronic submission, or the date of a mailed wage claim based on the 10 following:

11 (1) The postmark date of a wage claim properly addressed shall establish by a 12 rebuttable presumption, the date upon which the wage claim was filed unless 13 the party opposing this presumption presents evidence to establish some other 14 filing date.

15 (2) Absent a postmark or evidence establishing some other filing date, the date of 16 receipt by the Commission shall control.

17 (b) The Commission shall suspend the time limit for filing a wage claim only for those 18 reasons required by law including, but not limited to, bankruptcy stays.

27
28 (b) A claimant withdrawing a wage claim shall submit a form as prescribed by the 29 Commission.

2 §821.44. Bad Faith.

- 3 (a) An employer acts in bad faith in not paying wages as required by the Act when that 4 employer acts:
- 5 (1) with the knowledge that the failure to pay wages is in violation of the Act or 6 this chapter; or
- 7 (2) in reckless disregard for the requirements of the Act or this chapter.
- 8 (b) An employee brings a wage claim in bad faith when the employee does so:
- 9 (1) with the knowledge that the claim is groundless; or
- 10 (2) solely to harass the employer against whom the claim is brought.
- 11 (c) An employee brings a wage claim by filing the claim with the Texas Workforce
12 Commission.
